Enjoy a career that's fulfilling, fun and really helps families!

Did you know that more than one in four children grow up with single, working parents? And for the 70% with both parents, more and more of those households are requiring two incomes just to make ends meet. For many families, having a stay-at-home parent just isn't an option. But who will watch the kids?

Busy, working parents are looking for qualified Child Daycare Specialists who can supervise, educate and nurture their children while they work. Parents want someone they can trust to provide the best care possible in a healthy and happy environment.

As a Child Daycare Specialist, you can make a career out of helping these children and their families. And have fun while you do it!

Child Daycare Specialists are in demand!

The need for child care is rising. The U.S. Department of Labor projects that nearly 250,000 new child care jobs will be created by 2016 to meet this demand. Some of these new Child Daycare Specialists will work for preschools and daycare centers. Many will be self-employed, starting their own in-home daycare business and earning up to $35,000 per year with experience.

It's true. You can make a living doing what you love most.
